

BABS1201 LITERATURE REVIEW RUBRIC

Criteria	Excellent	Very Good	Satisfactory	Unsatisfactory	Not completed
Part One: Mini literature review 10 marks
Introduce the topic	- Title clearly outlines the topic of the review. - The introduction provides a well-defined background and context, offering a comprehensive overview. It provides a clear plan of how the literature review is structured.	- The title effectively outlines the review's topic, though with minor room for improvement. - The introduction provides a good background and context, offering a comprehensive overview. It provides a clear plan of how the literature review is structured.	- The title may not outline the topic area or be too general. - The introduction provides an adequate background and context but lacks detail and clarity.	- The title does not provide a clear outline of the review topic or is incomplete. - The introduction lacks a well-defined background and context, and the overview is not comprehensive.	- No attempt made to outline the review's topic in the title (e.g., "Literature review"). - The introduction is missing or significantly incomplete, providing no background, context, or plan of organisation.
	2.0 □	1.5 □	1.0 □	0.5 □	0 □
Content	- Articulates a concise summary of essential information pertaining to the chosen topic, demonstrating clear organisation and structure. - Integrates the literature in a logical manner to construct a well-organised and coherent review of the topic area.	- Constructs a well-organised summary of essential information related to the chosen topic, showcasing good organisation and structure. - Integrates the literature logically to build a review of the topic area that is generally well-structured and coherent.	- Develops an adequately structured summary of key information concerning the chosen topic, with acceptable organisation. - Incorporates the literature in a satisfactory manner to form a review that is reasonably organised and coherent.	- Presents a summary of key information related to the chosen topic with notable gaps or lack of clarity, lacking clear organisation and structure. - Integration of the literature is not logical, resulting in a review that lacks coherence and effective organisation, which impacts on readability.	- Does not articulate a summary of key information related to the chosen topic, and the construction of a review is either absent or significantly incomplete.
	2.0 □	1.5 □	1.0 □	0.5 □	0 □

Conclusion	- The conclusion provides a clear, logical summary of the primary takeaways and insights / future directions extracted from the review.	- The conclusion presents a good summary of the primary takeaways and insights obtained from the review.	- The conclusion gives an adequate summary of the key takeaways and insights from the review.	- The conclusion's summary of key takeaways and insights lacks clarity or completeness.	- The conclusion is either missing or significantly incomplete.
	1.0 □	0.75 □	0.5 □	0.25 □	0 □
Readability	- The writing is clear, well-structured and easy to read. - Written at a level suitable for a BABS1201 audience. The content is effectively tailored to their level of understanding.	- Writing is generally clear, but unnecessary words/phrases are occasionally used that make it difficult to read. - Written at a level suitable for a BABS1201 audience. The content is effectively tailored to their level of understanding.	- Writing is not clear with re-reading necessary for full comprehension. - Written at a level suitable for a BABS1201 audience. The content is tailored to their level of understanding to some extent.	- The writing lacks clarity and logical structure, impacting on readability. - The content is not effectively tailored to a BABS201 audience.	- No attempt is made to meet the requirements of clear writing, structured presentation for a BABS1201 audience.
	2.0 □	1.5 □	1.0 □	0.5 □	0 □
References	- Includes the 3 required peer reviewed journal articles (2 primary articles and 1 review article). - In text citations formatted correctly, using Harvard style. - Reference list formatted correctly, in Harvard style.	- Includes the 3 required journal articles (2 primary articles and 1 review article). - Majority of in-text citations formatted correctly using Harvard style. - Majority of reference list formatted correctly in Harvard style.	- Includes the 2 required journal articles (2 primary articles and 1 review article). - Majority of in-text citations formatted correctly using Harvard style. - Majority of reference list formatted correctly in Harvard style.	- Includes the 2 required journal articles (2 primary articles and 1 review article). - Many of in-text citations formatted incorrectly/ not in Harvard style. - Many of reference list formatted incorrectly/ not in Harvard style.	- No journal articles are presented or referenced.
	3.0 □	2.0 □	1.0 □	0.5 □	0 □

Criteria	Excellent	Very Good	Satisfactory	Unsatisfactory	Not completed
Part Two: Research process 15 marks
Relation to course themes	- Clearly states which topic was chosen and if they have refined the scope and focus. - Clearly states how the topic choice aligns with and contributes to the course theme/s. 2.0 ☐	- Clearly states which topic was chosen and if they have refined the scope and focus. - Clearly states how the topic choice aligns with and contributes to the course theme/s, but with minor gaps in explanation. 1.5 ☐	- States which topic was chosen and if they have refined the scope and focus. - Provides a vague or partial connection between the topic choice and course theme/s. 1.0 ☐	- Fails to clearly state the chosen topic or how the scope and focus have been refined, or the statements made are inaccurate or unclear. - Provides a vague or partial connection between the topic choice and course theme/s. 0.5 ☐	- No attempt made to connect the refined topic to course theme/s. 0 ☐
Article selection and information	- Demonstrates a selection of three peer reviewed scientific articles, including two primary articles and a review. - Clearly and accurately identifies each article as either a primary research article or a review article. - Clearly outlines the details for each article including the journal and publication year. 3.0 ☐	- Demonstrates a selection of three scientific articles, including two primary articles and a review. - States which articles are primary research articles, and which is the review article. - Outlines the details for each article including the journal and publication year. 2.0 ☐	- Shows a satisfactory selection of three scientific articles related to the topic but does not include the required two primary articles and a review. - Vaguely infers which articles are primary research articles and which is the review article. - Inclusion of two primary articles and one review article is evident but lacks clear details for each 1.0 ☐	- Does not include a selection of three scientific articles related to the topic. - Fails to clearly state which articles are primary research articles and which is the review article, or the statements made are incorrect or unclear. - One or more articles lack necessary details. 0.5 ☐	- No attempt made to include the required articles, any articles included are not relevant and no required details for present articles are provided. - No details of the articles were provided. 0 ☐

Choice of articles	- Explains the relevance of each article to the topic, including factors like the significance of the research, the clarity of the study, or its applicability to the topic.	- Provides a clear explanation of the relevance of each article but lacks the detail to communicate why one article was selected over another.	- Offers a basic explanation for the choice of articles, but lacks information on why each specific article was chosen over others	- The explanation for article selection is minimal or unclear, it cannot be determined why the articles were chosen over others.	- No explanation is provided for the selection of articles.
	2.0 □	1.5 □	1.0 □	0.5 □	0 □
Primary and Secondary literature	- Clearly and accurately describes the differences between primary and secondary articles - Explains how the distinction between primary and secondary articles was confirmed, including the specific criteria or features used to identify each type	- Describes the differences between primary and secondary articles, with slight inaccuracies or omissions. - Provides a generally accurate explanation of how article types were confirmed, with some minor errors.	- Provides a basic description of primary and secondary literature, but with gaps in understanding or clarity - Attempts to explain how article types were confirmed, but the explanation is unclear or lacks detail.	- Description of primary and secondary literature is incomplete or incorrect. - Fails to explain or incorrectly explains how article types were confirmed.	- No attempt is made to describe the differences between primary and secondary literature or to confirm the correct identification of articles
	4.0 □	3.0 □	2.0 □	1.0 □	0 □
Documentation process	- Describes the process of locating three peer reviewed scientific articles in a concise manner that also allows the search to be replicated, this may include the databases used, key words, phrases, limitations, filters, and how they confirmed their articles were peer reviewed.	- Describes the process in a manner that allows the search to be replicated, this may include the databases used, key words, phrases and how they confirmed their articles were peer reviewed.	- Provides basic documentation of the process with some gaps in clarity or detail.	- Documents the process of finding and choosing one of the required articles.	- No attempt made to document the process of finding and choosing the required articles. - Marker could not replicate the search and find the articles.
	4.0 □	3.0 □	2.0 □	1.0 □	0 □